Temporary Closure of Our Park

Today, Universal Studios Japan has decided to temporarily close our park due to the substantial business shutdown request to operate with no spectators which was issued under the state of emergency for Osaka prefecture. The temporary closure will start from April 25th, 2021 and remain until the request has been lifted.

We sincerely apologize for causing any inconvenience to our guests who were looking forward to visiting us. Detailed instructions regarding previously purchased tickets will be listed on our official website tonight.

We will announce the re-opening date once decided

Thank you for your understanding and cooperation.

The Precaution Measures at Universal Studios Japan

Universal Studios Japan was temporarily closed from February 29th through June 7th last year to support the prevention of the Covid-19 spread. Since then, we have participated in organizing and updating the "Novel Coronavirus Spread Prevention Guidelines for Theme Parks and Amusement Parks" together with various corporations and related organizations.

After the initial temporary closure, our park had moderately re-started its operation from June 8th, 2020. The health and safety of our guests and team members continue to be our top priority, we have thorough sanitization enhancement measures such as controlling the attendance capacity within the park in accordance with the said guideline and guidance from the government and local authorities.

Even though we are now closing temporarily for the second time to follow the request from the government and the local authorities, we are still willing to work towards supporting the quick recovery of the economic activities and the tourism and entertainment industry.
